THE ROAD TO FREEDOM
Keeping the Promise of the Americans with Disabilities Act is The Road to Freedom?

A law in 1990, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), promised to break the walls of discrimination and ensure the “American with disabilities”–from sidewalks to equal employment.

By Beverly Bachrach

Saint Louis, MO — 1999

We are all one; we are all human beings.

The unemployment rate of people with disabilities is up to 73%; the poverty rate twice that of people with no disabilities.

The ADA has been severely weakened, and its protections against discrimination are gone.

The Road to Freedom is a national movement to keep the promises of the ADA by raising public awareness and opportunity for all Americans with disabilities.

Freedom Bus 2007
"Envision education for all! Envision health care, jobs and communities for all! We are not going to be second-class citizens any more. We will live free and equal in our communities. We envision respect, dignity and life for all! We will access to the end of time for equal American dream."

Justin Hen, Jr., advocate for persons with disabilities and the leader of the 1990 Americans With Disabilities Act, 1996.

Freedom Bus 2007